Alexander Skarsgård: I feel incredibly old

HOLLYWOOD. Alexander Skarsgård has already taken Hollywood by storm. But now younger brother Bill, 20, may beat him for an Oscar. Yesterday, the brothers were viewing films at the Scandinavian Film Festival in Los Angeles.

"I'm 34 years old and I feel incredibly old," says Alexander Skarsgård.

When the Swedish Academy grant "In space, there are no feelings" was shown at The Writer's Guild Theatre in Beverly Hills this weekend. Alexander, 34, Gustaf, 30, and Bill Skarsgård, 20, were there.

Afterwards hailed brother Bill for his portrayal of Simon, who in the film has Asperger Syndrome – by both the audience and big brother.

"I'm so proud of Bill. It is the first time I've seen the movie. I was at home in Sweden one week around Christmas and then I saw him in "Heaven is innocent blue". He was great there too," says Alexander Skarsgård.

"I feel old"

Seeing the film, however, made big brother feel old.

"Those who made this movie are a bunch of 20-25 year olds. I am impressed by the script, drama, music and acting. Everything is very well done. I'm a proud big brother today."
